We think we have some fine corn here but Hays Moore down at Bardwell tells the following which lays us in the shade: "He stated that some time ago a neighbor, who lives near his field, suddenly missed his drove of chickens and was unable to find them for some time. Search was instituted and after several days they were found out in Mr. Moore's field dead. Mr. Moore claimed that they had wandered out some distance in the corn, and the futher they went the darker it got, until they thought night was upon them, when they flew upon the ears and went to roost. Of course, it remained dark in the corn, and, they, supposing that continuous night had set in, stayed there until they died.—Winchester Democrat.

Teacher's Grade-up in Kansas.

It is understood that Superintendent Stryker, in order to "grade up" the teachers, has prepared an entirely new set of questions for the next examination. Among them are these:

"You can frequently see a white horse; why do you never see a white colt?"

"Why does a horse eat grass backward and a cow forward?"

"Why does a hop vine wind one way and a bean vine another? Explain fully."

"Why does a horse tethered with a rope always unravel it, while a cow twists it into knots?"

"What is the length of a flour barrel?"

"What animals have no upper teeth, and why?"

"Why did Abdul Hamid delay acceptance of the proffered mediation of the powers?"

"After the Omaha platform, what is the greatest American document written since the Declaration of Independence?"

"Give a historical fact of the following great men: William Stryker, G. Washington, William Shakespeare, Jerry Simpson, Napoleon."

Mr. Henry Vogt, of Lexington, has a fifty-dollar continental paper bill, which was presented to him by his wife's uncle, John Sneider, of Dublin, Ind. Mr. Sneider had the bill for sixty years, and it is well preserved. It is 3x4 inches in size, and bears on its face the following inscription: "No. 1409. Fifty Dollars. The bearer is entitled to receive Fifty Spanish Milled Dollars, or an equal sum in gold or silver, according to a resolution of congress of the 14th January, 1779. 50 Dollars. John Lawrence, R. Mullan." To the left of this inscription is the picture of a Pyramid composed of thirteen blocks, representing the thirteen colonies, and the Pyramid the word, "Perennis." Across the left hand end of the bill, "North America." The reverse bears a picture of two branches of a tree, and "Printed by Hall & Sellers, 1779."—Louisville Dispatch.

Good morning Mr. Editor. I just dropped in to leave you a mess of new potatoes, and tell you that your paper gets better every week. Your account of my daughter's wedding was written in good style. I'll take $2 worth of extra papers. Say, you did the other Editor up in grand shape in that free silver argument. By the way, here's a dollar, send your paper to that son-in-law of mine in Oshkosh. Guess I'd better give you another dollar and let you send it to my wife's sister in Kekomo. My crops are looking fine. Well, I guess I'll be going. By the way, I'm going to run for sheriff and want you to say a good word for me. Of course you can't work for nothing, so here is $10—just then the editor awoke.—Exchange.

Winchester Court.

About 400 or 500 cattle on the market. A good feeling prevailed and all were sold. The best feeders brought four cents; common to fine feeders $3.60 to $3.75; yearlings, wt. 800 lbs., 3½ cts.; good fat cows 3½ to 3¾ cts.; a lot of steers, weight 679 pounds brought 3½ cts.; eight steers, weight 750 lbs. sold for $3.85; 13 steers weighing 630 lbs. $3.75; several lots of heifers, 550 to 700 lbs. at 3 cts.; a lot of 100 fat wethers sold for 3 cts. There was a much better feeling in the mule trade and big mules brought from fifteen to twenty dollars more than they did last Court Day. A couple of weanling mules sold for $45 each and we heard of others being held at fifty and sixty dollars.—Democrat.

The Country Roads.

The pathway of life may be narrow and steep,
But the road through the country is steeper.
The pitfalls and snares that beset us are deep,
But the mind that surrounds us is deeper.

There the fence rails for bridges and mud-holes for drains
And hard heads and boulders for gravel,
And broken down buggies on hill-sides and plain
Give warning like ghosts, as we travel.

Lank horses, by work and abuse broken down,
Gaze at us from roadside and stable;

Young men reaching wistfully out through the town
Or seeking its portals when able;

Deserted farmhouses, the fences decayed
And the breeze through the weed patches blowing

Where once happy children rejoiced as they played Hide and seek when the field corn was growing.

What joy for the youth, as his longings expand,
In his life so restricted and narrow,
His prospect, mid all opportunities grand
But to follow the plow and the harrow!

L. A. W. B.

Mr. James McClure, of the Agricultural bank, tells this one: One of our depositors recently gave his wife a check for $10, the check being regularly filled out and duly signed, except that it was made payable to "sweetest of the sweet." When the lady presented the check for payment I innocently inquired: Who is this "sweetest of the sweet?" Why, it's me, she replied. I told her to endorse the check, which she did and handed it back. But, madam I said, you must endorse it just as drawn, "to the sweetest of the sweet." She snatched up the pen and wrote the words below the name, and I paid the money. It is the most remarkable document in our possession and it will be framed and hung in the bank.—Paris Kentuckian.

An exchange says that seventy five per cent. of the male prisoners in penitentiary at Frankfort are single men. This is evidence of the fact that most men prefer the penitentiary to matrimony.

This is a good law.

Wheat has climbed up to a dollar a bushel and is still climbing. This has brought untold happiness to the oppressed farmer who has been selling at from 40 to 60 cents. This enlivenment of the wheat market and high prices are due to the foreign demand which is occasioned by a shortage of wheat crops in India and Argentina, and is not a waive of McKinley prosperity as some of his followers would have you believe.

This is the time in the year in which the county road receive the most of the work they usually get, and it seems that they are not receiving the attention they should have from the surveyors.
There is nothing of greater importance to a community or more profitable to her people than good roads. No real prosperous community is without good roads. Now let every one encourage a movement for good roads and build up our county thereby.

Reflections of A Bachelor.

Some men succeed by ability; others rely on whisker.

Lots of bald-headed men who don't believe in faith cure use patent hair restorers.

Everybody is conceited, only some folks can act like they weren't better than others.

Some men always insist on going it alone, even when their wives' hands hold all the cards.

No man ever really believes that a girl was never kissed, but he likes to hear how well she can try it.

If some girls had their wedding outfit burned up the day before they wouldn't see anything to get married for.—Louisville Post.

Sale Seems Certain.

Since the upset price of the R. N. I. & B., has been reduced from $250,000 to $160,000, it now seems certain, says Wednesday's Courier-Journal, that the road will be sold to a party of New York capitalists now inspecting it, who will extend it to Beattyville at once. It is believed that the sale will be made in October.—Richmond Register.
